A REMARKABLE TREE The Fluid Distilled From It Heals and Soothes the Skin

Along the shores of the Mediterranean Sea, on stony hillside and in waste places, grows a small, common prickly cedar tree (see picture) that scientists call Juniperus Oxycedrus. From the heart-wood of this tree is distilled a brownish liquid having a distinct odor somewhat resembling tar. For hundreds of years the peasants of Spain, France and Northern Africa have used this fluid to cure skin diseases both of man and of sheep, horses and other domestic animals. In more recent times this fluid was given the name of Oil of Cade, and the Medical Profession throughout the world employed it in treating eczema and many other skin troubles. It possesses remarkable healing, soothing and curative properties when applied to the skin, and seems to have been intended by Nature for this particular purpose. Oil of Cade, combined with other beneficial drugs, is used in making Cadum Ointment, the new skin remedy. It stops itching as soon as applied and begins the healing process immediately. Probably the brownish fluid from this remarkable tree is the very thing your skin requires to be made smooth and well. If you have pimples, eczema or skin irritations of any kind, get a 25c. box of Cadum Ointment today from your druggist. If he doesn't keep it, send 25c. for a box to the Omega Chemical Co., 676 Fifth Ave., New York.

RUSSIA HAS NEW ARMY READY TO FIGHT, SAYS VISITOR TO PETROGRAD

Force of Young Men, Well Armed and Trained, Is in Reserve, Says George Fry.

The Norwegian-American liner Bergensfjord arrived here to-day from Christiania, the first of that company's ships to reach New York since the owners agreed to send all their vessels into Kirkwall voluntarily, without the necessity of being taken in by British cruisers. The Bergens-fjord was hailed by a British battle cruiser and three torpedo boats, but they did not accompany her into Kirkwall. Under the terms of the new agreement her inspection was expedited and in this case neither mail nor passengers was disturbed. As a result of this arrangement the Bergensfjord was in Kirkwall only twenty-six hours. In past instances she has been held there as long as four or five days. George Fry of Bronxville, an engineer, returned on the Bergensfjord from a visit to Russia on business. He reports the presence of a fully equipped new army corps in the neighborhood of Petrograd, an army practically unheard of as yet. He describes the soldiers of this corps as fine young men, armed and trained to the last degree, but held in reserve for some reason not yet disclosed.

"Russia is now in excellent condition so far as men, arms, and ammunition go," said Mr. Fry, "but she still suffers from lack of proper railway transportation facilities."

TO FORCE MOVIES TO GIVE MORE FRESH AIR

Theatre Licenses Will Be Revoked
Unless Ventilation Is Improved—
Only 77 Out of 1,000 Perfect.

Immediate and radical changes in the systems of ventilation employed by New York theatres are probable as a result of a sweeping investigation just completed by the Mayor's Bureau of Licenses and the Health Department. A joint report, signed by Commissioner of Licenses Bell and Health Commissioner Emerson, declares that out of more than 1,000 theatres and motion picture houses in the Boroughs of Manhattan, Brooklyn and the Bronx only seventy-seven were found to be perfectly ventilated.

The sudden descent on theatres was made last Saturday night. Nearly all the theatre buildings were found to be constructed so that perfect ventilation could be easily maintained, it is said. Owners of buildings who did not comply with the ordinance requiring 300 cubic feet of air per hour for each patron were served with summonses to appear before Commissioner Bell. Unless they offer satisfactory explanations and promises to better ventilating conditions they face a revocation of their licenses.

BOY SAYS TEACHER KNOCKED HIM DOWN AND STABBED HIM

Manual Training Instructor
Stauff Is Summoned to Court on Pupil's Charge.

John H. Stauff, manual training teacher of an ungraded class in Public School No. 18, at No. 121 East Fifty-first Street, was summoned to Yorkville Court to-day on complaint of Thomas Sheridan, fourteen years old, of No. 983 Second Avenue. The boy, who had a wound requiring two stitches in the back of his head, said the teacher knocked him down and stabbed him in the class room on Friday afternoon. Sheridan was accompanied by his father, a shoer.

According to the boy, the class was making brushes. He had finished a brush and showed it to Stauff, who ordered him to begin another. The boy protested, and Stauff, he said, struck him with the brush, and as he lay on the floor stabbed him with a pair of shears. Sheridan went home in care of a school nurse. A member of his family took him to Flower Hospital, where the wound was dressed. He had been in bed until this morning.

Stauff's story, told in the presence of the Principal of the school, Frank Hankinson, is a different one. He said he was talking to another pupil when Sheridan standing nearby said: "Oh, tie that ball outside."

"It made me angry," said Stauff, "as the boy had been a persistent troublemaker and was put into the class because he was sub-normal and insolent. I struck him with the brush, and I sent him to a washroom with one of the other boys to wash up. He was bleeding a little. Perhaps he was scratched by a loose wire in the brush."

"But Sheridan said he was stabbed with a pair of scissors as he lay on the floor," the teacher was told.

"Well, the boy who went with him had a pair of scissors; maybe he cut him," was the reply.

Principal Hankinson said violence was sometimes necessary in dealing with pupils in the ungraded classes, who often showed criminal tendencies. Stauff had punished two other boys within a week, he said: one with a ruler and one with a slap of the open hand. He said Stauff, who is a heavily built man, while Sheridan is small for his age, undoubtedly struck Sheridan in self defense.

The Magistrate referred the whole matter to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children for investigation. The Board of Education has also started an inquiry.
